

believe

Christian

creation

creator

god

Hindu

Jewish

love

No one knows how the world began.

Some people believe the world was created by a god.

Creation stories help people to understand how the world began and what their god is like.

There are many different creation stories.

We can find out about people's beliefs from stories that are special to them.