

Date

Name

Knowledge and skills catcher: Life cycles and reproduction

Some pupils divide an 'offset' bulb from a parent bulb and plant the offset bulb in the soil. They measure the growth of the stem each week.

Question

What type of reproduction is this and how will this affect the characteristics of the offspring?

Question

How could they measure the growth of the stem and how long should they measure it for?
