

Name:

Date:

Unit title: What place does religion have in the world today?

1 What is a worldview?

- A A person's favourite things.
- B A set of beliefs and attitudes about the world and reality.
- C A scientific theory about the universe.
- D Looking at Earth from space.

2 What can the census reveal about religion in England and Wales?

- A Favourite religions in England and Wales.
- B The personal beliefs of individuals.
- C How many places of worship there are in an area.
- D The percentage of people who identify with different religions in various areas.

3 Which of these are limitations of census data? Choose all that apply.

- A There are limited options.
- B The information is not available for everyone.
- C Not everyone answers the religion question.
- D The data is hard to show on graphs and charts.

4 Why might buildings that are or were places of worship change use?

- A Because they are often sold to become tourist attractions.
- B Because the community's needs or religious make-up may change.
- C Because people prefer to worship at work.
- D Because new laws prevent religious activities.

5 Which of these are historic reasons for religious spread across countries?

- A Missionary activities, colonisation and immigration.
- B People being paid to follow certain religions.
- C Improved transport systems and internet access.
- D Countries having official religions.

Name:

Date:

Unit title: What place does religion have in the world today?

6 Why might religious diversity be considered a good thing?

- A It means more religious items and books can be sold.
- B It can help build tolerance and understanding among different communities.
- C It means that no one feels lonely.
- D It ensures everyone is treated fairly.

7 Which of these is an example of the UK being secular?

- A The UK has a state church.
- B Laws are made without reference to any religion.
- C Religious education has to be taught in all schools.
- D People can choose to follow whichever religion they want to.

8 What does religion being a 'protected characteristic' mean?

- A Religion is only practised in private settings.
- B Religious groups receive money from the government.
- C People can promote only one religion in public.
- D Individuals are protected from discrimination based on their religion.

9 How can understanding others' worldviews help in the workplace? Choose all that apply.

- A It can help everyone to feel valued and respected.
- B It means all employees can follow the same religious practices.
- C It can lead to rules and routines that suit everyone better.
- D It means people with different beliefs can be kept on separate tasks.

10 How can learning about religions and worldviews help children to become better citizens in the future?